Engaged Practice: Methods For Managing The Complexity Of Bipolar Disorder & Related Conditions

TUESDAY, APRIL 18, 2017
12PM EST / 9AM PST LIVE

It can be challenging for psychiatrists to provide confident diagnoses and treatment of patients with bipolar disorder and related conditions, especially given the complexity of the illness and the time constraints that physicians often face. During this virtual forum Gary Sachs, MD and Paul Keck, MD will discuss the challenges associated with managing the complexity of bipolar disorder and related conditions, review the concept of engaged practice and methods for optimizing work flow, and demonstrate the efficacy of utilizing a disease management model for diagnosis and treatment. The virtual forum will conclude with time for questions from the audience.

Featuring:

Gary Sachs, MD

Gary S. Sachs, MD was the founder and director of the Bipolar Clinic and Research Program and an Associate Professor of Psychiatry at the Harvard Medical School until 2010. Dr. Sachs received his MD from the University of Maryland School of Medicine in 1982.

Paul Keck, MD

Paul E. Keck, Jr., MD is the President & Chief Executive Officer of the Lindner Center of HOPE and the Craig and Frances Lindner Professor of Psychiatry and Neuroscience and Executive Vice Chair of the Department of Psychiatry at the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine.

William (Bill) Kasper, PharmD, Senior Medical Science Liaison for Otsuka Pharmaceutical Development & Commercialization, Inc., will be the moderator for this event.
